World condoles Sushma Swaraj's death

Calls her fierce leader, great orator

New Delhi, Aug. 7 (UNI & Agencies)- Illustrious BJP leader, one of the most prolific politicians of India and former External Affairs Minister Sushma Swaraj (67), breathed her last after a cardiac arrest yesterday night.

Sushma's sudden demise triggered a wave of shock and grief with leaders cutting across political spectrum paying glowing tributes to the astute leader. She had brought a rare empathy and a human approach to India's diplomacy. Leaders and office-bearers of United Nations, diplomats and ambassadors of Israel, China and other countries mourned the death and called her a great orator.

Condoling the death of the veteran BJP leader, Delhi Government has declared a two-day State mourning as a mark of respect. Sushma is survived by her husband Swaraj Kaushal and daughter Bansuri.

Sushma Swaraj had a kidney transplant in 2016 and had opted out of contesting Lok Sabha polls earlier this year.

As soon as news about Sushma's death broke, her followers all over the world mourned her death. Social media got flooded with tributes for the remarkable leader. Among the many moving messages, President Ram Nath Kovind said he was shocked to hear the news while Prime Minister Narendra Modi said this is the end of a glorious chapter in Indian politics.

The body of the former Union Minister was kept at her home until 11 am and was shifted to the BJP headquarters for the leaders to pay tributes. Last rites will be performed at the Lodhi crematorium at 3 pm today.

Senior BJP leader L.K. Advani and his daughter Pratibha had an emotional moment when they reached at Sushma Swaraj's residence to pay their last respects. Both Advani and Pratibha broke down as they were consoling Swaraj Kaushal, Sushma's husband.

A fiery speech in 1996

On June 11, 1996, Sushma Swaraj, while making her most impassioned speech on the floor of the Lok Sabha, talked about the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP)'s long-term plan of repealing Article 370 from Jammu and Kashmir.

Twenty-three summers later, the senior BJP leader expressed her gratitude to Prime Minister Narendra Modi for revoking the same Article, in her last tweet hours before she breathed her last. "@narendramodi ji - Thank you Prime Minister. Thank you very much. I was waiting to see this day in my lifetime," she wrote moments before she was taken to AIIMS, Delhi, after suffering a massive heart attack, where she was declared dead.

The 1996 speech in Parliament was when Sushma stood for speaking against the no-confidence motion. She lashed out at her political opponents after Atal Bihari Vajpayee had to resign from the Prime Minister's post.

Four more days of rains in city

Trees uprooted; parks, roads, houses flooded

Mysuru, Aug. 7 (RK&KS)- Moderate rainfall (7.5 mm to 35 mm) will continue in city for four more days, said N. Nagendra Babu, Research Associate at Organic Farming and Research Station in Naganahalli.

Speaking to Star of Mysore, Nagendra Babu said that there would be no continuous but intermittent rainfall for four days besides stating that there would be variation in wind speed.

He further said that the cloudy and cold weather was due to depression in Orissa Coast and added that rain due to the depression would not impact much in the State. He said that 14.4 mm rainfall was recorded yesterday at the observatory in the Organic Farming and Research Station. Today morning too, the weather was cold and cloudy along with light drizzle which intensified at about 12 noon.

Society in a shambles

The term shambles originally is said to be a word for slaughterhouse, now meaning "one heck of a mess." On taking even a cursory look at our present day society in particular and the country, if not the world, in general, one cannot but recall the scene in which a parent would be telling his son, "You were supposed to clean your room, but it is still in a shambles." Our society has to own its description as chaotic, disorderly, out of hand and so on at least on one count namely, people having trouble finding a livelihood as the land's job market is in a shambles as it were, all because of bad organisation. Even a place hit by an earthquake may be left in much better state.

Seasoned sociologists may be able to throw some light on human relationships in addition to development, structure and functioning of human society, with biologists joining them in the study of animal behaviour. The pattern of social interaction among human beings may be traced by the sociologists but their ambit may not include explaining why those changes happen. Maybe, as an offshoot of their pursuit, they have to come out with answers in a field of study that may be called societology, for want of a more appropriate term.

Customs, traditions, beliefs, behaviour, outlook and actions taking off from these diverse ways of people over centuries, called culture of the land's people have witnessed a sea change in our times. Scholars believe that whatever is left of that culture until today draws its strength from the past literature in many languages, mainly from the verses in the land's scriptures.

The sub-continent has borne the brunt of devastation handed down to its past generations by invading aliens from the period as far back as the brief visitation of the Greek conqueror of many lands, Alexander. The longest tenants of the land being the Moghals and the British, the land's history traces the impact of their presence, marked by hostility, on the land's culture. One of these aliens brazenly caused destruction of sculptures in places of worship and the other aliens got busy in exploiting the country's resources and conversion to their faith. The rule by the second party has come to be described as divide 'n' rule policy, which is deeply ingrained in the ways of many Indians who have the gift of the gab. To make a long story short, these vociferous speakers are having their coterie of followers whose gullibility is their undoing. Mysuru too hosts some of that kind poisoning the minds of people in society.

Amidst the ongoing disorder in society, followers of two faiths of many centuries vintage, namely Jains and Buddhists stand out as sentinels of what society should be. The speakers addressing their captive audiences whipping up emotions drawn from the caste factor will do well by appreciating the avoidable consequences on society which is in a shambles.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Now that B.S. Yediyurappa has been able to win the Trust Vote, he should focus on the tasks ahead. As promised on the floor, he should ensure clean and transparent administration and accept suggestions from the Opposition benches in the right spirit. The new Government needs to concentrate on good governance, which was woefully lacking in the last 16 months. His priority should be the problem of farmers, drought, labourers and also whatever was promised in the manifesto of the party. Irrespective of whether the BJP was behind the rebellion of the Congress and JD(S) MLAs, their disqualification has come as a blessing in disguise. They would have proven to be a problem, demanding their pound of flesh and more, had their support been availed or been admitted in the Cabinet. — S V. Venkatakrishnan in Deccan Herald

Turkish bee ordered to be destroyed evades authorities

Bristol: A Turkish bee that stowed away to Britain with a vacationing family was handed a death sentence by the Government, but the bee escaped before it could be carried out.

The Toy family of Bristol said the Turkish bee, believed to be an Osmia Avosetta Mason Bee, apparently stowed away in their luggage when they returned from a vacation to Turkey, and the insect's cocoons were found in their garden.

The Department for Environmental, Food and Rural Affairs said the bee is to be captured and destroyed out of fear it could be dangerous to native bees. The British Beekeepers Association said the bee could carry non-native viruses that British bees can't fight off, or it could out-compete native bees for food.

But the Toy family said that the bee disappeared from their yard before it could be destroyed prompting action.

Surgeons remove 526 teeth from boy's mouth

Chennai: Surgeons at a Dental College and Hospital in Chennai said that a boy suffering from a swollen jaw turned out to have 526 teeth that needed to be removed.

The boy's parents first noticed the jaw swelling when the boy was three years old, but they did not want him undergoing any procedures at such a young age. The boy, now 7, was recently examined by the surgeons when the condition continued to advance. A surgeon discovered a "compound odontome," a bag-like mass, in the boy's mouth, and it was removed.

The mass turned out to contain 526 tooth-like structures varied in size, but each had a crown and root-like structures, giving them the shape of teeth.

The hospital said it was "the first case to be documented worldwide where so many minute teeth were found in an individual."

Barricade this trench near NIE

Sir,

An opening near a small culvert next to NIE on the busy H.D. Kote Road is posing danger to motorists and other road-users. Though there is a protection wall over the culvert, the area before the culvert is not flat and the entire trench is very close to the road.

It is more dangerous at night times, for even pedestrians. It needs to be barricaded on a permanent basis at the earliest to save the life and limbs of motorists and pedestrians.

President gives assent to defang Article 370

Jammu and Kashmir's Special Status ends; PM Modi to address Nation today

New Delhi, Aug. 7- President Ram Nath Kovind this morning declared abrogation of the provisions of Article 370 of the Constitution, which gave Special Status to Jammu and Kashmir. The move came after both Houses of Parliament passed a resolution in this regard.

The Centre's bold move to revoke Special Status and bifurcate the border State into two Union Territories secured Parliament's approval yesterday with the Lok Sabha passing the new measures with over two-thirds majority.

The resolution abrogating provisions of Article 370 of the Constitution to take away the special status was adopted by the Lok Sabha with 351 members voting in its support and 72 against it, while one member abstained. And in a sheer coincidence with the number 370, the Bill to create two UTs — Jammu and Kashmir, and Ladakh — was passed by 370 votes in favour and 70 against.

"In exercise of the powers conferred by Clause (3) of Article 370 read with Clause (1) of Article 370 of the Constitution of India, the President, on the recommendation of Parliament, is pleased to declare that, as from the 6th August, 2019, all clauses of the said Article 370 shall cease to be operative...," an official notification said.

Jammu and Kashmir Speaker Dr. Nirmal Singh removing State Flag from his official vehicle at his residence in Jammu.

After this tectonic shift in the status of Jammu and Kashmir with the revocation of Article 370, Jammu and Kashmir will be largely run by the Central Government. Territorial autonomy has largely vanished. With this, Jammu and Kashmir will become a Union Territory (UT) and the third part of the State — the region of Ladakh — will become a second Union Territory.

Jammu and Kashmir will no longer fly its own flag and the Indian National Flag will take its place. With Article 370 revoked, Article 35A, which prohibited outsiders from buying property in the State, has dissolved. Now, Indians from the rest of the country can purchase property and apply for Government jobs.

PM TO ADDRESS THE NATION TODAY

After hailing the Jammu and Kashmir Reorganisation Bill as a 'momentous occasion' minutes after it was passed in Lok Sabha, Prime Minister Narendra Modi is likely to address the Nation today. However, the sudden and untimely death of former External Affairs Minister Sushma Swaraj late last night, it is being speculated that his speech might be delayed.

Taking a dig at all the political parties in the Valley, Modi said Jammu and Kashmir is now free from the shackles of "vested interest groups", who believed in emotional blackmail and never cared for people's empowerment. He lauded people of Jammu, Kashmir and Ladakh for their courage and resilience. "A new dawn, better tomorrow awaits," Modi wrote on Twitter.

UNPRECEDENTED LOCKDOWN

While New Delhi brought about an a historic change in the history of Jammu and Kashmir by doing away with its special status and downsizing it to two Union Territories, the Kashmir Valley continues to reel under an unprecedented lockdown as security personnel patrol deserted streets, two former Chief Ministers are in detention, one is under house arrest and several activists of major mainstream parties are being rounded up.

CM BSY gets green signal for Cabinet expansion

Swearing-in likely on Aug. 9; 15 MLAs to join Cabinet

New Delhi, Aug. 7 (KMS&VNS)- Karnataka Chief Minister B.S. Yediyurappa (BSY) is all set to expand his Cabinet after getting a go ahead from BJP High Command.

BSY, who has been camping in New Delhi since Monday night, met Party Working President J.P. Nadda and held talks regarding expansion. Later, he also met PM Modi to brief him on flood situation in the State and Cabinet expansion. However, BSY could not meet BJP National President and Union Home Minister Amit Shah yesterday.

Sources said Cabinet expansion is likely to be held on Aug. 9 during which 15 MLAs would be sworn-in as Ministers. Same day Dasara High Power Committee meet has also been convened by the CM.

This time, the party has decided to do away with Deputy Chief Minister's post and leaders, who had previously worked as CM and Dy.CMs must now work as Ministers in BSY's Cabinet.

It has also been decided not to leave out the 17 disqualified MLAs who were in a way responsible for BJP to form the Government. However, their inclusion into Cabinet will depend on Supreme Court's verdict. It is said that in case the SC quashes Speaker's orders at least 10-12 of disqualified MLAs would make it to the Cabinet and the rest would be given alternate posts.

Yediyurappa, who has been facing flak from the Opposition for the delay in Cabinet expansion, is said to have submitted a list of 20 MLAs, which includes names of Jagadish Shettar, K.S. Eshwarappa, Govind Karjol, R. Ashoka, Umesh Katti, B. Sreeramulu, S. Angara, Kota Srinivasa Poojari, C.T. Ravi, Aravind Limbavali, Suresh Kumar, K.G. Bopaiah, Shashikala Jolle, to J.P. Nadda. The list also includes the name of independent MLA Nagesh who withdrew his support to JD(S)-Congress Coalition Government to support BJP. However, the final list would be announced only after holding consultations with Amit Shah.

Though there are 50-60 party MLAs eyeing for a berth, none of them have spoken in public since the party high command has taken full control over the affairs in the State.

CM leaves for Belagavi

The CM left for Belagavi this morning to monitor the flood situation. His meeting with BJP National President Amit Shah was cancelled owing to the passing away for Sushma Swaraj.

Rain continues to batter Kodagu

KRS inflow touches 22,719 cusecs

Madikeri / Mysuru, Aug. 7 (PS&BCT)- Kodagu District Administration has sounded Red Alert in Coffee District Kodagu till Aug.10 following intensified rain under the influence of South West Monsoon. The decision on whether to extend the alert will be after assessing the rain situation.

With the India Meteorological Department (IMD) forecasting heavy rainfall and issuing 'Orange and Red' alerts, the District Administration has taken precautionary measures for carrying out emergency operations. Bhagamandala and Talacauvery have recorded heavy rain since last three days and vehicular movement has been suspended as flood water is flowing on the roads. Triveni Sangama at Bhagamandala was overflowing.

The bridge across River Cauvery across Bethri is likely to submerge anytime if the rains continue in this momentum. The bridge links Virajpet and Madikeri. The low-lying areas of Karadigodu near Siddapura have been marooned as Cauvery is flowing in full spate. People living in those areas have been asked to move to safer places.

The road that connects Hysodlur to Birunani Mruthyunjaya Swamy Temple has been blocked due to landslides and the bridge connecting Halligattu and Ponnampet has is nearing a marooned state. Though the District Administration has not officially banned tourist entry in the wake of last August's unprecedented floods and landslides that destroyed 30 percent of Madikeri and Somwarpet Districts, tourists are subtly being told to avoid stay and trek in hilly regions.

The administration has asked people to remain cautious. It is presumed that the coffee-growing region may receive up to 204 mm rain between Aug. 7 and 9.

The Yemmethalu Bridge near Hattihole is blocked with trees and branches that have been uprooted last year and this monsoon.

MLA goes in boat

Bhagamandala and Talacauvery have recorded heavy rains from last four days. The road connectivity to two places has been suspended with floodwaters submerging the road. Virajpet MLA K.G. Bopaiah inspected the affected areas in an inflatable boat.

The Madikeri-Bhagamandala and Napoklu-Bhagamandala Roads have been flooded. Boats have been kept ready in Bhagamandala for evacuating stranded people. The personnel of Fire Department and Home Guards have also been deployed in the area for emergency operations.

CM to visit

Bopaiah told reporters that Chief Minister B.S. Yediyurappa will also soon visit Kodagu to assess the rain damage. He said the CM, who had recently convened a meeting in Bengaluru with elected representatives from Kodagu to discuss the reconstruction of the district, had sanctioned Rs. 540 crore for this.

New bridge

The MLA said that there is a need to build a bridge across Cauvery River at Bhagamandala and efforts will be made to complete it by next year so that traffic is not disrupted by heavy rains again. Later, the MLA visited the site where a portion of Virajpet-Makutta Road caved in and said that a bridge would be built across Kootupole rivulet by the end of this year.

In the next two or three days, the Makutta road will be thrown open to traffic even as repair work will be taken up. According to Kodagu DC Annies Kanmani Joy, the administration has deployed the personnel of Fire Department and Home Guards in the various areas for emergency operations.

Embankment of gunny bags

"An embankment of gunny bags filled with manufactured sand would be put up on the Makutta Road soon to facilitate the vehicle movement on the stretch. A permanent restoration will be taken up soon," said the DC. The road near Abyathmangala has been blocked as rivers are overflowing. The Hoddur-Murnad-Napoklu-Balamuri road has been cut off as River Cauvery is overflowing in many places. The Yemmethaalu Bridge near Hattihole has been blocked by trees that have been washed away from hilly regions last year and this season. Fear of landslides has gripped the residents of Hattihole, Yemmethaalu, Kaloor, Thantipaala, Madikeri, Mukkodlu, Madapura, Soorlabbi and surrounding areas. These areas were destroyed in landslides last year.

KRS inflow

Meanwhile, the inflow to Krishnaraja Sagar (KRS) Reservoir near Srirangapatna increased at the rate of 22,719 cusecs due to rain in the catchment areas of Cauvery in Kodagu. However, according to Irrigation Department officials, the chances of KRS attaining full reservoir level this season are very bleak as Karnataka has to release a huge quantum of water to Tamil Nadu. Today's water level at KRS stood at 86.90 feet as against the maximum level of 124.80 feet. Today's outflow was recorded at 6,330 cusecs.

City BJP leaders pay tributes to Sushma Swaraj

Mysuru, Aug.7- Former MLC Thontadarya paid glowing tributes to former Union Minister Sushma Swaraj who passed away last night at the condolence meeting held here this morning at BJP Party Office 'Sachin Rajendra Bhavan' on Devaparthiva Road, Chamarajapuram.

Sushma Swaraj was a fiery lady who had many firsts to her credit such as being the youngest Cabinet Minister in the Haryana Government, first woman Chief Minister of Delhi and the first woman Spokesperson for any national political party in the country, he said.

She had done very good work as External Affairs Minister in the Narendra Modi Government, which the whole world had taken note of and her subsequent decision not to contest in the elections were the true hallmark of her ideals and principles as a politician, he said.

BJP State Secretary S. Rajendra and others were present.

"We are communal, because we want to abolish the Article 370, we are communal, because we want to put an end to discrimination based on caste and creed in this country... Mr Speaker, we are communal, because we want the voices of the Kashmiri refugees to be heard," she had said.

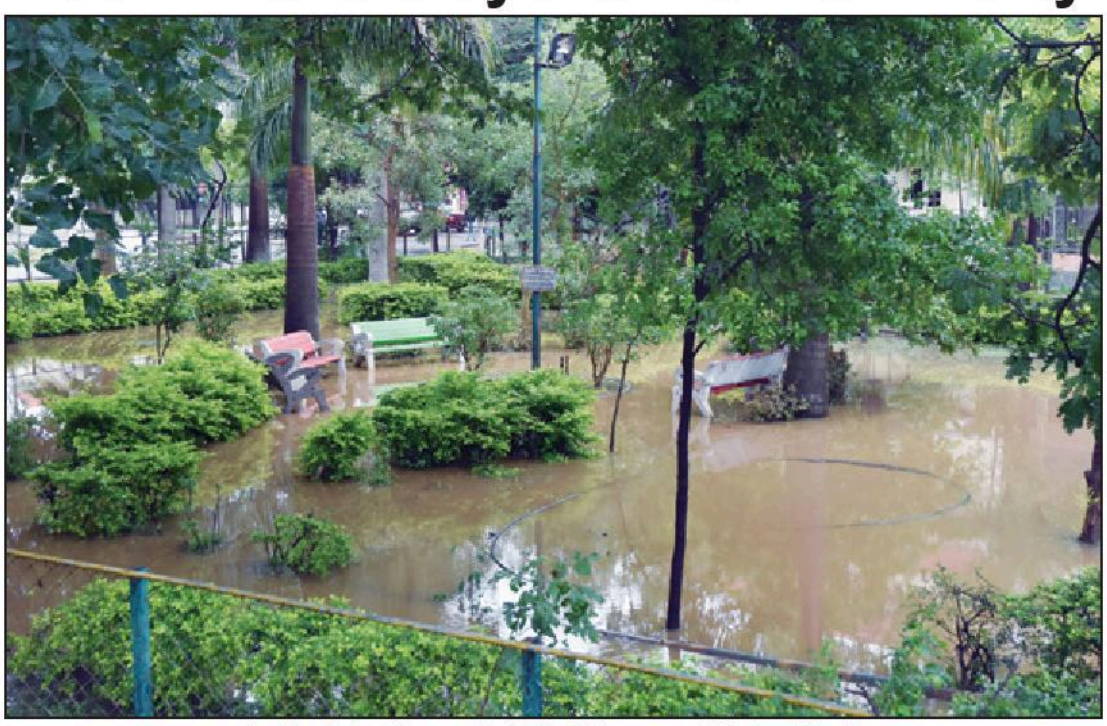
Amid a roaring House, Swaraj had laid the foundation for what would go on to be one of the most landmark decisions taken by any government of the country since Independence.

A helping hand to everyone

Swaraj, who was India's first full-time woman Foreign Minister, extended a helping hand to many Indians in distress abroad. She was known as one of the most accessible Ministers in the first term of the Narendra Modi government.

As External Affairs Minister, Sushma brought a sense of assertiveness in India's diplomacy and played a key role in resolving the Doklam standoff with China in 2017. She had also played a key role in India approaching the International Court of Justice challenging a Pakistani military court's death sentence to Kulbhushan Jadhav. She was known for prompt response on Twitter to address grievances of overseas Indians.

Four more days of rains in city



The flooded park opposite Mall of Mysore on M.G. Road in city.

Holiday for schools and colleges: Following heavy rainfall, a day's holiday has been declared for schools and colleges in H.D. Kote and Periyapatna taluks today.

Meanwhile, continuous rainfall since two days has disrupted normal life in city. Moderate rainfall which began on Monday afternoon lashed the city continuously throughout the night and continued on Tuesday too.

Thick dark clouds hovered the city resulting in continuous rain and cold weather. While trees were uprooted in Gokulam, Vijayanagar 3rd Stage, Shanthinagar and on Sayyaji Rao Road, opposite MCC, rainwater entered houses in low lying areas of the city.

The tree opposite to MCC came crashing down on the busy Sayyaji Rao Road damaging the balustrades and disrupting vehicular movement. The MCC Abhaya team, which rushed to the spot cleared the fallen tree and made way for the smooth flow of traffic.

Rainwater inundates parks and roads: The park, opposite to Mall of Mysore on M.G. Road was inundated with rainwater causing inconvenience to morning and evening walkers. This apart, many parks across the city were also flooded due to continuous rainfall.

Prominent roads such as Dhanvantri Road, Sheshadri Iyer Road, Hardinge Circle (J.C. Wadiyar Circle) were also flooded giving tough time for pedestrians and motorists.

Flashback 1999

'Swadeshi Beti' Vs 'Videshi Bahu'

Bengaluru, Aug. 7- Former External Affairs Minister Sushma Swaraj, who passed away late last night, had a strong Karnataka connection.

For nearly 15 years since 1999, Sushma had made it a point to celebrate Varamahalakshmi festival every year at the house of renowned physician Dr. B.K. Sreenivasa Murthy in Bellary (now Ballari), from where she had unsuccessfully contested the 1999 Lok Sabha elections against the then Congress President Sonia Gandhi.

In 1999, Sonia was making her electoral debut and the contest between Sonia and Sushma was a fiery one and soon became a battle between the 'Swadeshi Beti' and 'Videshi Bahu'.

The 'Big Battle of Bellary' helped the BJP create a strong base for itself not just in Bellary and but also in the adjoining districts where the party was a non-entity. Although Sonia, who also contested from Amethi in Uttar Pradesh in that election, defeated Sushma by 56,000 votes, Sushma, an ace orator and campaigner, won the hearts of the people of Ballari in particular and Karnataka in general.

Even the nomination paper filing of Sushma Swaraj was dramatic and filled with suspense. Sushma's name was mooted by late Ramakrishna Hegde and she was accompanied by late H.N. Ananth Kumar and current Vice-President M. Venkaiah Naidu when she filed her nomination.

The high decibel campaign in Ballari drew the nation's attention as Sushma, who had gained a working knowledge of Kannada within a month, drew huge crowds during her campaign as she spoke in Kannada quite fluently. She was showered with so much affection that she made it a point to visit the district every year to celebrate Varamahalakshmi festival, which incidentally falls on Friday, Aug. 9 this year.

Though Sonia gave up the Ballari seat, her contest with Sushma remains etched as one of the fiery electoral battles in Indian history. Sushma contesting from Bellary was indeed a turning point in the lives of the Reddy brothers of Bellary and their friend B Sriramulu, who later played a crucial role in installing the first-ever BJP government in Karnataka, led by B.S. Yediyurappa.

Sushma then had announced that "as a daughter of Bellary" she would come there to celebrate the festival as long as she is alive. However, due to health issues and her busy schedule as External Affairs Minister, she had not visited Bellary for the last few years.

Her campaign was managed by Reddy brothers, who later fell out with her after G. Janardhana Reddy was indicted in the illegal mining scam. She eventually cut ties with them and stopped visiting Ballari.

When Sushma threatened to shave off her head

New Delhi, Aug. 7- In a highly emotional moment, former External Affairs Minister Sushma Swaraj had once vowed to live her entire life like a Hindu widow if UPA chairperson Sonia Gandhi became India's Prime Minister.

When the Congress won the 2004 Lok Sabha elections, the grand old party backed Sonia Gandhi for the Prime Ministerial post, to which Sushma Swaraj strongly revolted. She had said that it would hurt her "sensibilities" if a foreigner would lead the country.

Sushma Swaraj had threatened to don a white saree, shave off her head, sleep on the floor and eat only chickpeas if Sonia Gandhi were to be sworn-in as the Prime Minister of India. "It hurt my sensibilities as even after culmination of British rule and the sacrifices made by fellow Indians, no (Indian) was there at that time to lead the country and a foreigner was being chosen," Sushma Swaraj said targeting Italy-born Sonia Gandhi. Sonia had offered the post to economist-turned-politician Dr. Manmohan Singh.

Stray cow in search of food electrocuted

Man's inhuman act leads to animal's death

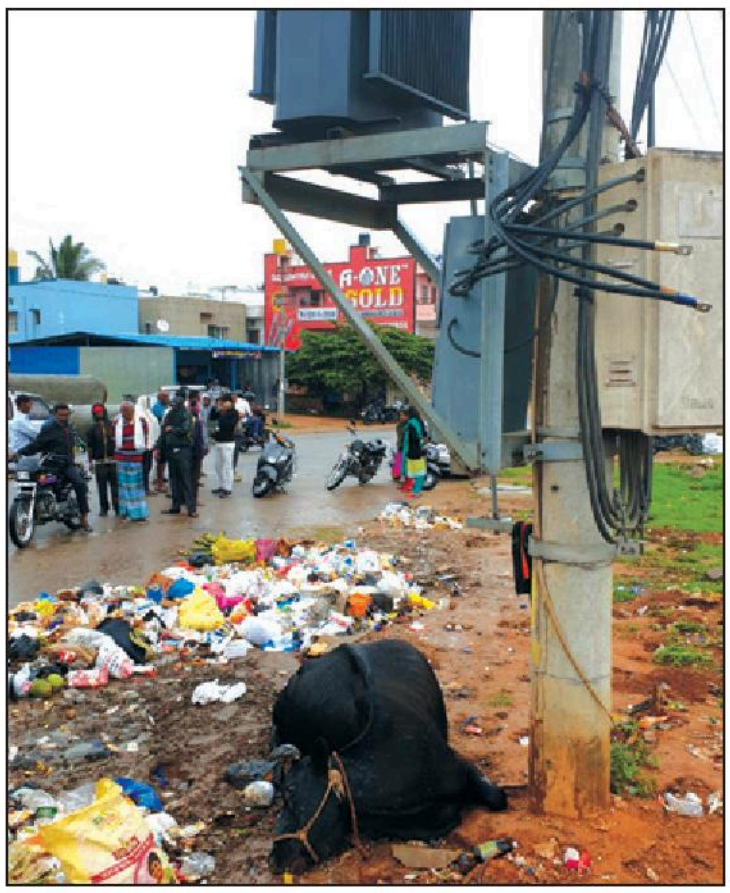
Mysuru, Aug.7 (YDS&NNN)- A stray cow which had come in search of food was electrocuted near Abhishek Circle in Manchegowdanakoppal here yesterday.

The cow which died belonged to Ningamma, a resident of Manchegowdanakoppal. The incident occurred near a transformer. The residents in the surrounding areas dump the garbage near the transformer.

Every day, around 8 am the Pourakarmikas come and clear the garbage carrying it in the garbage vans.

However, the cow strayed in search of food at 7 am and seeing the garbage strewn around, it tried to rummage for some food. But due to electric shock, it immediately died on the spot.

The residents feel that if the Pourakarmikas had come early then it would have resulted in a bigger tragedy.



Unscientific installation of transformers: Every day the Pourakarmikas go door-to-door to pick up the wet and dry waste.

But a few of the residents including people staying in paying guest accommodations and people running fast food joints throw the garbage near the transformer. As a result, the whole area stinks and mosquito menace has increased. There is also a danger of spread of communicable diseases.

The CESC (Chamundeshwari Electric Supply Corporation) officials have put up transformers near the roads but have not installed grills around it. Hence, the cow was electrocuted.

The Electricity Board officials must take care at least now to install grills around the transformers to prevent such tragedies.

Stray cattle menace: The menace of stray cattle has gone up in the city and most of them stand on the middle of the roads, affecting traffic movement, besides leading to accidents.

The Corporation officials must take action against this menace, urged the public of the city.

Plastic Flags and PoP Ganesha idols banned in city

Mysuru, Aug.7 (RK&VNS)- With the Independence Day and Ganesha Festival round the corner, the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) has cracked a whip on the sale of plastic flags and use of PoP Ganesha idols.

In a press release, MCC Health Officer Dr. M.S. Jayanth has said that cases would be booked against those found manufacturing and selling plastic flags and PoP Ganesha idols. He added that MCC Standing Committee and Health Inspector would conduct regular checks and book cases against those violating the rule. Dr. Jayanth has instructed to use clay idols and khadi flags to free the city from pollution and to maintain cleanliness.

In this week's Pet Talk, Maneka explains about the effects of alcohol on dogs and moths' reaction to light

Pet Talk

Maneka Gandhi

Recently a dog became famous all over social media for his antics after drinking alcohol. Should I let my pet consume alcohol?

Dogs should never have any type of alcohol — or even food that contains alcohol.

When you give your dog alcohol, it depresses the central nervous system, affects coordination and changes the blood chemistry, creating excess acid that damages the kidney and liver. The dog will fall into a coma and eventually die. Whiskey and other hard liquor is probably something that a dog (or cat) won't intentionally drink, but the problem really occurs when it's combined with sweet mixers like soda or fruit juice, because that will now make the drink appealing. Let's remember, too, that some of those mixers just may include food items that are toxic to pets. Some of the thing your dog can experience from alcohol poisoning:

1. Behavioural Changes: Dogs will suffer from quickly impaired mental faculties, which will result in behavioural changes. Your dog may become aggressive, depressed or try eliminating around the house.

2. Kidney Damage: Because alcohol is such a strong chemical poison, the dog's kidney will work hard to filter it, resulting in an over-strained kidney and kidney damage.

3. Respiratory Problems: Alcohol depresses the activities of the mind and body. Even small amounts of alcohol can affect your dog's breathing rate quickly.

4. Heart Problems: Alcohol affects the heart of both, humans and non-humans. Dogs ingesting even a minor amount of alcohol can experience heart murmurs and even heart attacks.

5. Death: It can be a sudden and quick death, or a slow, painful one.

Can pigs be dangerous?

Pigs are opportunistic omnivores (which means they can eat anything edible), and large ones can be quite dangerous.

While pigs may not attack humans, as they are not hunters, they have no qualms about devouring an unconscious, or dead, human any more than they would about eating any other animal that died in their pen — they are omnivorous scavengers, after all. They are dangerous because they are very territorial, destructive and aggressive when in their territory. Male pigs can be quite violent and are possessive, specially about their sows.

Sick pigs can pass on zoonotic diseases to humans, which can include the skin condition erysipeloid and the bacterium Streptococcus suis, which can lead to illness including meningitis and deafness in humans.

There is a great risk in eating pork of any kind. Apart from worms, pigs carry viruses. The widespread use of antibiotics, especially in the commercial pig sector, creates problems of antibiotic residues in pork products and leads to the development of antibiotic resistance.

If moths like light so much, why don't they come out during daytime?

The attraction towards light is called phototactic. Moths exhibit a specific character called "positive phototactic."

The reason why they do not come out during the day is because they are very sensitive to sunrays. At night, they use the sky/ stars as a method to navigate. Moths prefer a low illumination scenario, where they can easily catch signals. Moths don't like light at all. The reason they fly maniacally around bulbs is that in the pre-electric world, in which they evolved, they used the moon to navigate by night. By keeping the moon at a constant angle to the direction of their flight, they could ensure they travelled in a straight line. Unfortunately, they now confuse electric lights with the moon and try to navigate by them. Because the bulb is not a quarter of a million miles away, its position relative to the moth is not constant. The result is that they just go round and round in circles.

Why is my parrot standing on one leg?

Birds' legs have an adaptation called "rete mirabile" that minimises heat loss. The arteries that transport warm blood into the legs lie in contact with the veins that return colder blood to the bird's heart. The arteries warm the veins. Because the veins also cool the arteries, the bird's feet are closer to environmental temperature and, thus, don't lose as much heat as they would if they were at body temperature. And by standing on one leg, a bird reduces by half the amount of heat lost through the unfeathered limbs. Due to the absence of feathers in this part of their body, they minimise the excessive heat-loss, they rest one leg tucked in their feathers to keep it warm and use the other to maintain their balance.

Birds, sometimes, stand on one leg because of various reasons, like taking rest which helps them reduce muscle fatigue. Birds have special ligaments in their toes that make it very comfortable to stand on one leg. Even when they are asleep, they'll stand on one foot to give rest to the other foot and themselves.

Why is my parrot fish turning black?

Black patches, smudges, smears, spots or markings may suddenly appear and are not natural colourings.

These markings are the result of skin cell damage. Black markings often appear in areas where the skin has been damaged by ammonia burns, bacterial infections, parasitic infestations, and injuries. These markings are often seen on fish due to the high ammonia levels. These marks are also common in African Cichlids, especially around the mouth. These are scabs that have come from digging in the gravel or from fighting.

No treatment is necessary. Much like scabs, the blackened areas are a sign that the healing process has already begun. Keep water in top condition and the areas will gradually fade in less than a couple of weeks. Another reason for such black patches or smudges, is that the fish might be going through stress. One can try changing the level of water, the nitrogen level and other changes in the fish tank, to make it favourable for the fish to live in.

Why is my pig foaming at the mouth?

Pigs foam at the mouth, usually when it's feeding time, or food is discovered. This does NOT mean your pig has rabies. Foaming at the mouth is normal. Foam is also used to "scare" a predator when being challenged.

However, in a case where they are already fed, and still foam, check for other symptoms: make sure they are not lying down, panting or breathing heavily, foaming at the mouth and are flushed. It could be a result of heatstroke, because they have no access to shade from the sun. In such a case it is necessary for you to spray them with water and cool them down. Or it may lead to the pig's sudden death.

What does the term natural food mean? I find it on almost all packaging from cakes to ice-cream, bread to meat, medicine tablets to biscuits?

I don't know either. As of now it is just a clever marketing gimmick, which has discovered that humans hate the word chemical and are drawn to things that are from nature directly. But after decades of debate there remains no generally accepted definition of a "natural" food product. Regulatory agencies have refused to settle the issue.

An oatmeal product seems more "natural than processed wheat" but it uses as many chemicals and pesticides as anything else. Some people mistake 'natural' for 'vegetarian', but many products have extracts of meat and still call themselves natural. An ice-cream promotes itself as natural but uses flavour extracts. Even the sugar substitute, which is clearly chemical, claimed it was made from natural ingredients till it was taken to court. What is needed is a series of law suits against food items that use the term, so that, in time, food advertising and packaging will become more truthful. Government also needs to formulate a definition for the meaning of natural.

Is it okay to judge people based on their attitude towards animals?

As far as a person's morality is concerned, it can very well be judged by how they treat animals. Although a sociological understanding would suggest various reasons that motivate a person's attitude, it cannot be used as an excuse to torture or inflict pain on animals. Ignorance is not justifiable and, if one encounters people who treat animals badly, it is okay to form judgments about them. However, it is also your duty to educate the persons and call them out for their wrongdoings, to ensure that they introspect and make suitable behavioural changes.

Guyana, Aug.7 (UNI)- Riding on Virat Kohli's 59 runs off 45 balls and Rishabh Pant's 65 runs off 42 balls, India defeated West Indies by eight wickets in the final T20I to clinch the three-match series 3-0 here at Providence Stadium yesterday.

After opting to field first, Men in Blue's bowler, Deepak Chahar took three wickets and wrecked the West Indies top order. Chahar was well supported by Navdeep Saini who also clinched a couple of wickets.

However, Kieron Pollard smashed his 3rd T20I fifty and with Rovman Powell shared 66-run stand which helped Windies post a respectable total of 146 runs after a poor start.

While chasing a target, India suffered an early blow in the form of Shikhar Dhawan whose poor run in T20Is continued with another failure. Thereafter, K.L. Rahul played handsomely before being dismissed by Fabian Allen at 20.

After Rahul's dismissal, Virat Kohli played a stupendous 45-ball 59-run knock when India lost early wickets. He hit 6 fours in his inning.

Later, Rishabh Pant didn't make any mistakes as compared to previous matches and played a sensible 42-ball 65-run knock, laced with four boundaries and same number of sixes to guide his team towards seven-wicket victory over West Indies. He shared a 106-run stand with captain Kohli.

For West Indies, Oshane Thomas took two wickets while Fabian Allen claimed a wicket.

Cleanliness is NOT next to Godliness at Gunja Narasimha Swamy Temple

T. Narasipur, Aug. 7 (SK&US)- Though the historically famous Gunja Narasimha Swamy Temple in the town was renovated spending crores of rupees to attract more tourists, the vicinity of the temple is regrettably stinking with practically no maintenance whatsoever.

The Temple Town, hailed as Dakshina Kashi with the confluence of rivers Cauvery, Kapila and undercurrent Spatika Sarovar (spring), is also famous for the Kumbh Mela held once in three years on the lines of the Maha Kumbh Mela held at Prayag, Uttar Pradesh. Lakhs of devotees visit the town for the mega event.

After an NRI devotee got the said temple renovated, the State Government too spent about Rs. 60 crore during the tenure of the then PWD Minister Dr. H.C. Mahadevappa about four years back, to get the vicinity of the temple cleaned, developed a beautiful park near the river bank, created a good parking lot and spruced up the bathing ghat and toilets.

Gross Negligence

Though the temple is renovated, the surroundings is very unclean with littering of leaves and containers by devotees after eating the prasadam served everyday. Adding to the misery, too many shops have cropped up near the temple, thus cleanliness is totally spoilt.

Vehicle Parking

In spite of a designated place for vehicle parking, the devotees park their vehicles haphazardly all around the temple as there is no one to man the parking lot.

Bathing Ghat

Though the bathing ghat was developed, the place looks like a Dhobi Ghat with civic authorities turning a blind eye to the mess created by the local people. Devotees going to the river for a holy dip have to bear the brunt of the unclean and unholy practice of washing clothes.

Useless Toilets

Despite the toilets been built during the renovation of the temple, they remain useless as the toilets are not inaugurated yet! The plight of women devotees is pathetic and unimaginable.

In short, crores of rupees spent on renovation of the temple has literally gone waste owing to the laxity of Muzrai Department and Temple Management with thousands of devotees at the receiving end.

Tahsildar Nagaprashanth says that he would hold a meeting of officials of Muzrai Department and Town Municipality to sort out the cleanliness problem.

An approval has been obtained from the Deputy Commissioner to install Surveillance Cameras around the temple soon, he added. However, the devotees contend that officials of the Departments concerned and temple authorities have turned a blind eye to the vexing problems.

Problems galore:Dalits demand permanent solution

Mysuru, Aug.7(MTY&DM)- Hundreds of Dalits under the banner of Karnataka Dalit Sangharsha Samithi (Ambedkar) staged a demonstration in front of the DC Office here on Aug.5 urging for a permanent solution to their never-ending problems.

Claiming that dalits were living under deplorable conditions even after 70 years of Independence, the protestors alleged that the Government officials were ignoring their plight.

Accusing the officials of failing to issue tilling letters to dalit farmers, they alleged that works on the construction of Dr. B.R. Ambedkar Bhavan, Jagjivan Ram Bhavan and Valmiki Bhavan were going on at a slow pace. They also accused Nirmiti Kendra, PWD, Karnataka Land Army and ZP of executing poor quality works being carried out in slums and other dalit habitats.

Maintaining that the officials were lethargic in providing power connection to borewells and pumpsets, they demanded Title Deeds for sites allotted to Dalits, statutory benefits to Pourakarmikas, civic amenities in Dalit dwellings and installation of Dr.B.R. Ambedkar statue near Mini Vidhana Soudha in the city, among others. Earlier, the protestors took out a rally from Town Hall passing through Gandhi Square, Dufferin Clock Tower, D. Devaraj Urs Road, JLB Road and Vinoba Road to reach the DC office.

DSS office-bearers Mavalli Shankar, Ningaraj Malladi, Karya Basavanna, Doddasiddu Hadanur, Bannahalli Somanna, Vasantha Honnenahalli and others took part in the protest.

WORD OF THE DAY

Passim

Pronunciation: PASS-im.
Meaning: In one place and another : here and there.
Origin: Passim is from the Latin word passus ("scattered"), itself from pandere, meaning "to spread." Pandere is the root of the common word expand and the not-so-common word repand, meaning "having a slightly undulating margin" (as in "a repand leaf" or "a repand colony of bacteria"). It is also the progenitor of pace, as in "keep up a steady pace." Passim itself appears in English both on its own and as part of the adverb sic passim, which means "so throughout." Sic passim is typically used to indicate that a word or idea is to be found at various places throughout a book or a writer's work.
Example: "Finally, may I say that I respect the views of those who have read and researched the same information as I, but reached the opposing conclusion, as displayed in your letter pages passim." — Stephen Brown, The North Devon Journal.

THE ODD WORD

Boondoggle

Work of little or no value done merely to look busy.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

In someone's bad books

Meaning: To be in disgrace or out of favour.

Origin: In the Middle Ages 'one's books' was understood to mean 'one's reckoning or cognizance', that is, the esteem in which one was held by others. To be 'out of someone's books' meant you were no longer part of their life and of no interest to them. This meaning is first recorded in The Parlyament of Deuylles, 1509 - "He is out of our bokes, and we out of his". The use of books to indicate favour or disfavour is enshrined in several phrases - 'good books', 'bad books', 'black books'. The first of these was 'black books', which appears to have originated by allusion to an actual book. In 1592, Robert Greene published his intention to create a Blacke Booke, which was to list the misdemeanors of various classes of criminal. As a preamble he wrote his Black Book's Messenger, which included: "Ned Brownes villanies which are too many to be described in my Blacke Booke."

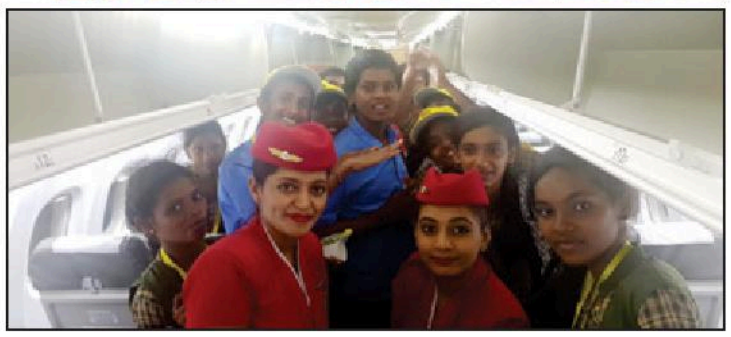
Flights of fantasy...



Mysuru, Aug.7- Mysore Heritage Round Table (MHRT) 109 and Mysore Heritage Ladies Circle (MHLC) 109, in association with Madras Knights Round Table 181 and Color Mate, gave 20 Kukkarahalli Government School children the joy of flying in an airplane for the first time in their life.

The journey began on May 30 when all the children travelled by train and reached Chennai on May 31. In Chennai, Madras Knights Round Table 181 had arranged food and transportation for them. The children visited Marina Beach to enjoy the seashore and then moved to MGM Dizzee World to spend the rest of the day with a whole lot of entertaining rides.

The excitement on the children's face could not be contained when they reached the airport. The children were very inquisitive to understand and learn the workings of the airport.

On board the airplane, the children interacted with the Air Hostess and took selfies with them.

The event ended in Mysuru where the children were excited to share their experience with their parents and friends.
